Blettilla striata

ANTI-AGE

Increases the synthesis of dermis fibers and limits free radicals to reduce general damages visible on skin.

FUCOGEL®

A NATURAL BEAUTY PRODUCT

Its formula contains a combination of three saccharides: L-fucose, D-galactose and galacturonic acid. Makes the skin incredibly soft, supple and silky. Provides a feeling of elasticity and comfort.

Fiber booster plus Orchid-Hyacinth increases the production of the synthesis of dermis fibres, collagens, and proteoglycans, made by fibroblasts. Those different fibres, which shape a kind of complex interlacing around cells, constitute the supporting mattress of skin. In the same time, it also decreases the production of the enzyme responsible for the destruction of those fibres and glycoproteins. And to complete its Anti-ageing effect, it protects epidermis skin cells against free radicals made both through skin biochemical reactions and environment (especially UVB).

SUCCINIC ACID IN COSMETOLOGY:

1. It actively rejuvenates and revitalizes the skin.
2. Blood vessels become stronger, their protection against toxic effects or free radicals increases.
3. Regulates all important regeneration cells.
4. Fights dilated capillaries on the face.

PHYTIC ACID is a derivative of inositol (vitamin B8) and is one of the most powerful natural antioxidants. It helps reduce hyperpigmentation, improve skin texture, and combat premature aging. Phytic acid is predominantly found in seeds and grains of plants such as beans, nuts, cereals, and seeds, where it serves as the main storage form of phosphorus and performs key metabolic functions. Due to the large size of its molecules, phytic acid acts exclusively on the surface of the skin, without penetrating deeply, making it safe and non-irritating or allergenic. These features make phytic acid suitable for use on sensitive skin.

PROPERTIES OF PHYTIC ACID:

Antioxidant Activity: Phytic acid effectively combats oxidative stress caused by free radicals, thereby slowing down the aging process of the skin.

Vascular Strengthening: Under the influence of phytic acid, the walls of blood vessels become stronger and more elastic, which helps reduce the visibility of vascular networks.

Improvement of Skin Texture: It helps reduce pore size and promotes gentle exfoliation of the skin's upper layer, thereby improving skin texture and making it smoother and more even.

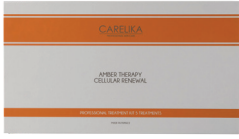

Whitening: Phytic acid is used for skin lightening and reducing pigmentation, as it promotes exfoliation and reduces melanin production.

Moisturizing: It helps retain moisture in the skin, improving its hydration and preventing dryness.

Chelating Action: Phytic acid can bind metal ions, which helps prevent the accumulation of metals that can cause oxidative stress and skin damage.

Lifting Effect: It increases skin elasticity and firmness, enhances collagen and elastin production. The most noticeable lifting results are observed in individuals over 40, as phytic acid effectively addresses age-related skin sagging, making the facial contour more defined.

BIOECOLIA is an glucan oligosaccharide obtained by a patent process of enzymatic biocatalysis from vegetal substitutes. Its structure, composed of a glucose units sequence, represents a preferential substitute for the nutrition of the microorganism of our body. This selection is linked with the presence of specific liaisons (α -(1-6) and α -(1-2)) that enables a faster and more efficient use of the glucose by our flora. This prebiotic rebalances, maintains and stimulates the skin Ecoflora, the first defense barrier of the organism towards the external agressions. By helping the good bacteria to develop at the expense of the "bad" ones, it sustains the health of the skin while regulating its PH.

THE ALOE VERA, Known for its soothing and nourishing properties, is an ideal care for delicate skins.

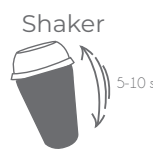

What if the (good) bacteria were the key for the health and the youth of the skin?

Microbiota is our microbial flora: 100 000 billions of microorganisms, bacteria, yeasts, fungi... that colonize our skin. This microbiota built itself from birth, at the skin surface but also inside the hair follicles and the sebaceous glands. The whole is a kind of trio between the skin cells, the saprophytic bacteria (the good ones) and the pathogenic bacteria (the bad ones). This microbial flora protects us from agressions, infections, inflammation, it quarantees skin immunity.

WHAT IS BIO-CELLULOSE?

A natural component obtained by microbial fermentation of coconut water and containing lipids, proteins, vitamins A, C and B, trace elements, minerals and natural fruit acids. This formulation is beneficial for sensitive skin, promotes rapid regeneration and protects against the adverse effects of the external environment.

WHAT'S SO SPECIAL ABOUT IT?

The biocellulose material adheres seamlessly to the epidermis - it becomes like a "second skin". Its nano-structure ensures that the fibres can hold 100 times their weight in volume. It has a very high absorption capacity. The fibres are smaller than the finest wrinkle on the face, so it ensures that the active ingredients reach the skin as efficiently as possible.
