USEFUL PROPERTIES

Succinic acid is a natural substance - it is synthesized in the body and takes part in the production of energy in cells. Well tolerated by the skin.

Succinic acid is compared to the fuel that burns in the cells. Healthy cells don't need it, but acids are able to accurately find a damaged cell, instantly penetrate into it and support the functioning of the appropriate organ.

The action of succinic acid is not only in the regulation of internal processes, but also in the restoration of lost functions - the resumption of life processes in a dying and sluggish tissue. This characteristic allows the use of succinic acid in cosmetology.
